

Bombers Keep Up Air Raids

Eight Thousand Tons Of Bombs Are Dropped On Occupied Europe

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
LONDON, Sunday, May 14.—(AP)—Two thousand U. S. bombers and American-Allied fighters hammered three major targets in northern Germany yesterday and shot down 63 Nazi planes in sky duels which cost the invading Americans 12 bombers and 10 fighters.

Up to 750 Flying Fortress and Liberators, escorted inland by nearly 1,000 U. S. Lightnings, Mustangs and Thunderbolts, and covered in their withdrawal by hundreds of RAF Mustangs, attacked a Fock-Wulf plant at Tutow, rail yards and locomotive repair shops at Osnabruck, a synthetic oil refinery in the Stettin area and other targets.

The formation was part of a total of approximately 5,000 American and British planes which hurled 8,000 tons of explosives on occupied Europe in two-way attacks from Britain and Italy during the day.

The bag of 63 German planes, 54 by the fighters and nine by bomber gunners, made a two-day total of 213 Axis aircraft shot down over Germany.

Completing an unprecedented series of 16 heavy bomber missions in 13 days for the British-based Eighth U. S. air force, this day's assault rocked the targets with nearly 2,000 tons of bombs.

Support Allied Drive
At the same time, Italy-based heavy U. S. bombers continued their far-reaching attacks in support of the newly launched Allied land drive, ripping into rail facilities at 14 points in northern Italy. Their targets included points in the important Brenner pass through which Hitler sends most of the supplies to his embattled legions in the south. (A French radio broadcast from Algiers, recorded in New York by the FCC, said the Brenner pass line had been cut.)

These were the major blows in the day's attacks which began around midnight when British night bombers lashed out from home bases at targets in France, Belgium, and Germany, and from Italian bases at rail junctions in northern Italy.

As the onslaught roared through its 29th day, it closed a week in which there was hardly a single hour when Allied bombs were not exploding on Nazi-held soil. So many targets were hit in the past seven days that to record an accurate total was almost impossible.

The Luftwaffe, which lost 150 planes Friday again sent up swarms of fighters to challenge bombers raiding Tutow and other long distance objectives from the west today, but many refused battle and Americans hitting Osnabruck met scarcely any opposition.

The Italy-based planes, which roamed the skies unchallenged yesterday, encountered only slight resistance, and the Swiss radio quoted an Italian report as saying traffic had been interrupted on the Brenner railway line by the latest Allied blow.

Hundreds of light Allied bombers shuttled back and forth over northern France and Belgium, ripping airfields and rail yards feeding the Nazi Atlantic wall. Bombs dropped on the sea wall itself again shook pictures in English homes on the coast nearest France.

Although Berlin told of terrific battles over Germany, the first American airmen back from the attack on Osnabruck, 40 miles east of the Dutch border on the Berlin-Amsterdam trunk line, said Nazi fighter resistance was negligible after Friday's duels in which 150 German planes were shot down at a cost of 42 American bombers and 10 fighters.

To Mothers of Those in Service

There is no distance, Mother dear,
No ocean that's too wide
To keep you very far from me
You're always at my side;
I see you in my dreams at night
Back in the home I love,
I feel your presence in the plane
High in the sky above;
And in the tanks that rumble on
Through tangled jungle lands,
And when I'm lonely or in pain
I feel your loving hands;
Upon the bloody battlefield,
Upon the ships at war,
Wherever I may be, Mom, dear,
I know that's where you are;

And if I'm scared a little, Mom,
I always think of you,
I offer up a little prayer
And know you're praying, too,
I know you'd love to have me home,
That's where I'd like to be,
But until that great day will come
I'm taking you with me,
I take you with me right along
In everything I do,
I'm just so sure you know the things
That I am going through,
I feel your loving lips,
I feel your gentle touch,
I know this isn't news—but—Mom,
I love you very much.

Nazi Command Gives Warning

Speculate As To Blows When The Invasion Begins

By JAMES M. LONG
LONDON, May 13.—(P)—The German high command communique, normally the most conservative of the daily fixtures broadcast by the Berlin radio, declared today that the Allied air offensive against the Nazi continent "may be regarded as the preparation for invasion. It was the first time that the German command, now confronted by an Allied land, sea and air siege, had used the word "invasion" in its daily bulletins, and the Nazi press speculated that the blow would fall simultaneously with a new Russian offensive.

Inside France the Nazis were reported rushing final preparations, requisitioning all remaining automobiles and speeding a "Rommel plan" under which virtually the entire male population of France between the ages of 16 and 60 would be put in concentration camps on D-Day to safeguard the German rear.

The German command described the new Italian offensive as being "on the largest scale" and as "an obvious attempt to tie down German forces," thus linking the assault with the expected western invasion.

Expects Early Spread
German accounts took the new Allied offensive against the Gustav line as being only the forerunner of a bursting storm. "The German high command expects the flare-up of fighting in Italy to spread to other sections of the European battlefield," said the Nazi trans-ocean news agency. "We are aware of Gen. Alexander's words that the Allied troops in southern Italy are striking the first blow in a final battle."

Sea action along the "invasion front" flared up, British admiralty communique announcing brisk new skirmishes in the English Channel "no man's land" in which fresh blows were directed at convoys which the Nazis were seeking to slip through the strait in an attempt to move supplies by water to east the strain upon the bomb-pocked rail system.

British light naval forces fired two ships and damaged two others in one small convoy yesterday, and a French destroyer skirting close to a shore which was once its (Please Turn To Page 4 Col. 1)

New Attacks On Jap Bases

Dive Bombers In Support Of Drive In North Burma

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
SOUTHWEST PACIFIC ASIA HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, May 13.—(P)—A new Allied offensive has been launched against the North Burma Japanese bases at Kamaing, Mogaung and Myitkyina by Chinese forces, which stormed a two-mile front with tank, dive-bomber and artillery support, Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

In the early stages of the assault, thrown against Japanese forces a mile south of Malakawng on the south bank of the Kvelon river and west of the Mogaung river, several Japanese anti-tank guns were knocked out, and an official announcement said Stilwell's advance columns were holding Manipin, east of the Mogaung and only 10 miles above the Japanese base at Kamaing.

Simultaneously, Allied fighters and dive bombers in close cooperation kept up a continuous daylight air offensive against the Koma front, while on the Imphal sector, heavy fighting raged as the Japanese battered unsuccessfully toward the Palel mountain pass.

Repulse Enemy Stroke
In the Kamaing drive, Stilwell's announcement said, advance columns have repulsed an enemy attack on their position after inflicting casualties, among them two enemy commanders.

Driving on Myitkyina from the north, another Stilwell force was reported to have penetrated the perimeter of the Japanese defenses around Tiangzup, strong outpost about 40 miles above Myitkyina.

Northwest of Myitkyina and north of the town of Mogaung, Stilwell's Chinese troops, forced a stream and advanced a mile south of Auch in the hills, almost due east of Malakawng.

On the Imphal front, fierce fighting continued against grim Japanese resistance which held up the British south of Bishenpur.

The Tuesday meeting will be a beginning of a far-reaching effort for the future expansion of Pettis county resources particularly in agriculture and industry. Business men will also enter the plan to increase and foster employment in Pettis county after the war in order to place as many discharged service men and war workers in local industry.

New Organization
The Pettis County Committee for Economic Development is a new organization formed of two groups; the former group formed last fall called Committee for Economic Development and a new group established by the state of Missouri in its last legislature. The new committee created is the State Department of Resources and Development. The State Director is Frank Ridgway who will be in Sedalia next Tuesday to speak at the meeting. Ridgway will discuss the activities and suggested program of the Pettis County Committee for Economic Development. Reds Attack Nazi Military Trains

By TOM YARBROUGH
LONDON, Sunday, May 14.—(P)—The Soviet high command announced tonight that Russian bombers attacking German military trains and stores at Daugavpils (Dvinsk) in Latvia, and Tauri in Estonia had touched off violent explosions and fires Friday night in a possible prelude to a fresh Red army northern offensive.

The German high command also indicated that Russian troops in force had smashed across the Moldavia river, 60 miles inside Romania, when it told of fighting between Romanian soldiers and a full Soviet rifle division on the west bank of that river.

No essential changes occurred on the long land front, Moscow said.

For some time German broadcasts have suggested the Russians were mounting another big-scale offensive in northern Estonia, where the Red army holds positions near Narva, and opposite Latvia, where the Russians were reported within five miles of Pskov on March 3.

The broadcast Moscow bulletin recorded by the Soviet Monitor said explosions and flames enveloped a substantial part of Daugavpils rail junction, 115 miles south of Riga, following the Friday night blow.

Believe Dog Had The Rabies
A dog believed to have been suffering from rabies, was killed by the police Saturday morning in an alley behind 1804 South Prospect avenue. The dog is known to have bitten several other dogs in that neighborhood.

Chief of Police Anson Finnell, has received numerous reports of stray dogs running loose over the city and destroying flower gardens and victory gardens. Chief Finnell stated dog owners must keep their dogs from running loose, otherwise they will be picked up and placed in the dog pound.

If necessary the owners will be arrested and fined for permitting the dogs to run loose.

Dog owners in the south part of the city should tie up their dogs and keep them under observation for at least ten days, because they may have been bitten by the dog which was killed.

Deadline May 23 For Auto Plates
JEFFERSON CITY, May 13.—(P)—Deadline for purchase of 1944 auto license plates was set today for midnight, May 23, by Gregory C. Stockard, new secretary of state.

Manufacturing delays due to a war time shortage of steel helped distribution of the plates and postponed the deadline for buying them more than two months past the usual time.

"All branch offices of the motor vehicle department will have ample supplies of plates" for every type of vehicle, Stockard said.

Allied Terms Planned For Nazi Surrender

Call For Full Destruction Of German Army

By WES GALLAGHER
LONDON, May 13.—(P)—American - British - Russian plans for acceptance of Germany's surrender are nearly completed, and call for complete destruction of the Prussian-built army, a reliable informant disclosed tonight. This war's terms for Germany are said to differ from the last war's in that they are "surrender" terms rather than "armistice" proposals.

The European advisory commission has nearly finished drafting these surrender terms and will turn the completed proposal back to the governments of the big three.

Premier Stalin is then to give a directive to the Red army commander-in-chief for negotiating with the Germans when the time comes, and the combined chiefs of staff then would forward the agreed plan to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as a directive in any negotiations he might undertake.

In the last war the German army kept itself more or less intact under the armistice terms by marching back into Germany.

The new terms, it is understood, provide that the German army must surrender completely, lay down its arms where it is fighting and await disposal by the Allied authorities. The Russians particularly are insistent on this point, fearing that the German army might melt back into Germany.

Among the final details now being worked out are those dealing with exactly what German territory would come under control of the American and British and Soviet armies. Final determination naturally would be much influenced by where the armies are when the fighting ends.

Mother's Day
Today is Mother's Day, at Sedalia Army Air Field.

This year, when we think of our own mothers, we will also think of you mothers in the nearby towns; you who have been our Gray Ladies when we are sick; who have sewn our torn clothes; who have invited us to your homes for food and entertainment; and who have done so many other things to make our life here a bit more pleasant.

The word "thanks" cannot in any way adequately express our feelings, but we want you to know that everything you have done for us is appreciated.

Perhaps your sons are in home towns where our mothers are caring for them as you have done for us.

We, of the field, have tried to show our appreciation by staging shows and other forms of entertainment for the townsfolk. On Wednesday and Friday we presented shows in Sedalia that we hope you enjoyed. We shall continue to try to reciprocate the many kindnesses tendered us, by all of you.

Mother's Day—

"Years to a mother bring distress,
But do not make her love the less."
Wordsworth

Many sons will write tributes on Mother's Day and succumb to the temptation of suggestiveness concerning the role mothers should play in these dark hours of the world teaching an oncoming generation to practice tolerance, judgment, forbearance. Sons who advise their mothers are indulging in intrusive impertinence.

Yesterday's mothers, today's mothers, tomorrow's mothers by mysterious instinctive impart to sons and daughters the tenets of tolerant human relationships. That so many children resist her preachments is not her fault. There is an innate obstinacy in children that seems to persist until they themselves have undergone the experience of conception. Then the protective instinct submerges unnatural stubbornness. Sons and daughters who become fathers and mothers undergo a transformation of their ideas about pitfalls in a complex society. In turn they embrace the philosophy of their mothers, and attempt by educational processes to inculcate in their own offspring that which they themselves opposed as juveniles. This course of conduct is as endless as life itself.

The career of every mother is interspersed with distress, mostly because she is a mother. Every young woman who embarks on such a course realizes the consequences. The beneficence to the human race is that she faces the issue unflinchingly ever hopeful that the chills of trials and tribulations will cease as the warmth of a child's love for its mother responds to the fervor of a mother's love for her child.

Let Dot and Peg Fight It Out—

There is still time for the two political parties to revise their plans; the Republicans nominating Westbrook Pegler and the Democrats, Dorothy Thompson as presidential candidates. Both of them know so much about running the country, and judging from their columnistic utterances against each other they could put up a cat and dog fight that would put to shame the coming Dewey-FDR battle of the champions.

What of Ghandi in 3888?

Nineteen hundred and forty-four years from now will the world remember Mohandas K. Gandhi, perhaps follow some sort of a religion inspired by him? Millions today in India regard him as nothing less than God. He has been a dominant figure in the life of India for forty years. His career has been interspersed with imprisonment. Today, because of his health, he has been given freedom.

Ghandi has been tagged as a saint, a revolutionary and a reactionary, a patriot and an unscrupulous politician.

Because the world of Rome did not know Him well enough, a Man executed upon a cross had been similarly vilified by many; worshipped by a few. Today that Man is revered by millions throughout the entire world, millions who attempt to follow His way of life—unquestionably perfect.

God's Stake In The War—

God may have a stake in this war, as some religious leaders have finally concluded. But if God has a stake in it, His sole interest is that the human race finally may become aware of war's futility by suffering heartbreaks, bitterness and all the tortuous mental pangs of a hell created on earth not by Him, but in defiance of Him.

When parents' patience is taxed by juvenile delinquencies, they might consider the problem of God and his patience with the delinquent adults.

Traitors To Their Country—

One way of arousing the ire of several million independent voters is for the Democratic party to harp on the theme expounded by Senator Harry S. Truman: "a Democratic defeat at the polls this year would confuse the conduct of the war, perhaps imperil the peace, and thus give aid and comfort to the enemy."

That statement may be considered cracker-jack political propaganda, but it was dished out at a Democratic political meeting by the Missouri senator. It has the flavor of the old rabble-raising technique.

Mr. Truman is just too smart to believe deep down in his heart that any citizen voting against President Roosevelt is a traitor to his country. So the best thing his many Missouri friends and supporters can do is to charge off that statement as made for the sake of party expediency, the sort of a chore one is forced to do when engaged in politics.

There are so many worth-while arguments, sound and sensible ones, against turning the country over to a Republican president that thinking citizens wonder why the Democrats don't enlarge upon them rather than resort to the time-worn and wholly insupportable and unreasonable argument of one man indisposability.

Of course the Democrats want to retain themselves in power. But they will not succeed by setting out on a campaign to vilify independent voters as traitors to their country for not agreeing with them that they have been caught in a crack for want of leadership except in one man.

A Corner on Lawyers—

During a press conference discussing government seizure of Montgomery Ward & Co., President Roosevelt commented on the fact there were not enough lawyers in the editorial rooms or among the Washington newspapermen to understand the law which permitted the seizure of the big mail order house during the adjustment of a labor dispute.

This deficiency of legal talent among the newspapermen might be explained by the fact that the New Deal bureaus, and presidential demand for 296 federal judge appointments have contributed to drying up the source of legal minds.

Evidence of the compelling need for government lawyers was demonstrated in Chicago when a horde of assistant attorneys-general and G-men, exclusive of the army, swooped down on Montgomery Ward & Co.

Since the government is establishing a corner on lawyers, Mr. Average Citizen may expect henceforth to rely upon one-way interpretation of laws whose complexity leaves him at the mercy of power-drunk bureaucrats whose breath of life is sustained by apathetic taxpayers.

No Sense of Values—

An eighteen-year-old Texas youth's idea of atonement for stealing $15.00 worth of cigarettes was accomplished by walking two city blocks on his bare knees. In thus clearing his conscience he received considerable publicity to his own self-satisfaction, never thinking that obtaining a job and earning enough money to pay for the stolen cigarettes would have given him and the cigarette owner more personal satisfaction.

War In The Back Yard—

Working in a Victory garden affords man an opportunity for reflection on many subjects.

There is order or disorder in your garden depending on the persistence with which the hoe is kept busy chopping down what we call weeds which seem to have astounding vigor.

You think about war and the prospects of a long post war peace. Why do men have to fight? Can't there be established some sort of world confederation to prevent international wars?

As a gardener you think about yourself as a confederation of organisms preventing weeds from disturbing the serenity and peacefulness of the beds, carrots, tomatoes and radishes. Yet the confederation is going to eat those vegetables before they go through their life cycle. So, too, with flowers nursed to the blooming stage only to be plucked before seeding, placed in a vase to adorn the interior of the confederation's domicile.

On the other hand even if tranquility is established, among the growing vegetables by removing weeds, the gardener notices that one carrot or one beet getting the growth-jump (it) its neighbor will crowd it out—civil war if you please in the vegetable row.

Man is a good bit like his vegetables. Give him controls to prevent conflicts among nations, he ultimately resorts to civil warfare. It all has something to do with biology, sociology and the sciences.

Anyway it's a lot of fun trying to keep peace in the vegetable garden and the chicken pens even though you know eventually your high standards to provide living space and life among them will break down when hunger sets in and you develop cannibalistic tendencies.

Errata Attracts Reader Interest—

A twenty-four page booklet—political propaganda for a presidential candidate—reached my desk. It was on its way to the waste basket when I noticed pasted to the second page a memorandum captioned "Errata." I would not have known what that meant except for recollection of high school Latin, taught me by Miss Bessie Bowers. The word comes from the Latin erratum, meaning a blunder.

Curious-like, I restrained myself from throwing away the pamphlet. So I read on and checked the pages whereon errors had occurred in the printing. There must have been hundreds of thousands of copies of this pamphlet printed. The candidate and his managers must have been boiling mad over those typographical blunders, which, when explained, did no harm. And I'd like to wager that this booklet, because of those errors, will be more thoroughly read than if the printing had been perfection. Because of my own curiosity about the errata I read more of the political messages than I ever intended to and incidentally learned something about a man in whom I had very little interest previously.

Sometimes I wonder if mistakes in advertisements about which the advertiser complains so bitterly, aren't more beneficial than if they had not occurred. A mistake stimulates reader interest judging from my own experience.

The Reason for Boiling—

Speaking about someone becoming "boiling mad" recalls the story about the high school girl who made her first visit to the Missouri Pacific shops.

"What is that over there?" she asked of a foreman who was showing her around. "That is an engine boiler," he replied. "Oh, and why do they boil engines?" queried the sweet young thing.

"To make the engine tender," answered the foreman, who was boiling mad.

So They Say

The German character did not change fundamentally between the time of Napoleon and World War I. Why should we suppose it has changed since? I believe we shall witness the same drama all over again.—Emil Ludwig, author.

The War Department does not consider it advisable to utilize Japanese-Americans in the Pacific war theater. If a Japanese-American unit were present in combat in the Pacific, it would be possible for the enemy Japanese to secure American uniforms and mingle with our soldiers.—General Staff Lt.-Col. Harrison A. Gerhardt.

Perhaps, if we are very successful against Germany, it (Pacific war) will end in 1945. But your guess is as good as mine.—New Zealand Prime Minister Peter Fraser.

There can be no greater fallacy than the belief that our export business is dependent on the economic retardation of other countries. The principal obstacle we have to the export business is the low purchasing power of the people.—William P. Witherow, former president National Association of Manufacturers.

The peace will be lost if we fail to take steps now to prevent either mass unemployment or mass government employment in the post-war period.—Paul Hoffman, chairman Committee for Economic Development.

Merry-go-round

. . . by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, May 13—It has been said that oratory is on the wane in America, that great figures who dare to speak out on the Senate floor have disappeared, that the real power of the Senate is now exercised in committee by strong, silent men with no grace for speech.

Those who heard Tennessee's Senator Kenneth McKellar harangue his colleagues on the subject of this columnist the other day are wondering if this is true. Opinion is divided. But both sides agree that the gentleman from Tennessee hit the high watermark for glibness in the Senate.

Ordinarily, this columnist doesn't consider himself worth forty-five minutes of the Senate's time and twelve columns in the Congressional Record but, since Senator McKellar is anxious to get circulation, this column is delighted to oblige. So we give you Senator McKellar of Tennessee speaking on the Senate floor in rebuttal of a Merry-Go-Round report of his feud against the Tennessee Valley Authority:

No Mountaineer McKellar
"Mr. President, I have been shown an article by one Drew Pearson, a so-called columnist. I wish to read from that article and comment upon it."

"Pearson says: 'For 32 long years in Congress, blustery mountaineer Kenneth McKellar—'
"I digress long enough to say that I do not know Mr. Pearson, but really he is an ignorant ass, is he not? (Laughter.) I was not born in the mountains. Yet this ignorant, blundering, lying ass seems to think there is something discreditable about mountains. The truth is that it is not a dishonor to be a mountaineer. Only a blatant jackanapes would have made a point of that."

"He is just an ignorant liar, a pusillanimous liar, a peewee liar. I understand he and Lillenthal (David Lillenthal, chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority) are great friends. They are two of a kind. What is fitter than two liars standing up for each other?"

"His further statement is that I am famous for my patronage. That is simply a willful, deliberate, malicious newspaperman's lie, out of whole cloth. That is all it is."

"I read more of the article: 'When it comes to temper, the Senator from Tennessee surpasses any other man on Capitol Hill.'"

"No one could tell about that, because that is a matter of opinion, on which probably no two persons would agree. It may be that I have a temper."

"I read on: 'Most of his colleagues remain in awe of McKellar's lashing tongue; some even in fear.'"

"In my judgment, that is a willful, deliberate, malicious lie, out of whole cloth. If any senator stands in awe of me for any reason, I do not know it. I have never heard of such a thing. The only thing I can say about that statement is that it is an absolute falsehood."

"A Revolving Liar"

MR. McKELLAR: "When a man is a natural-born liar, a liar during his manhood and all the time, a congenital liar, a liar by profession, a liar for a living, a liar in the daytime, and a liar in the nighttime, it is remarkable how he can lie. (Laughter.) This is a very fine bit of evidence of it."

MR. CHANDLER: "Mr. President, will the senator yield?"

MR. McKELLAR: "I yield."

MR. CHANDLER: "I believe there is a definition for that sort of a liar. He is called a revolving liar."

MR. McKELLAR: "A revolving liar! It suits Pearson exactly!" (Laughter.)

NOTE: Chandler doubtless had in mind ex-Governor William Fields of Kentucky, who once called Franklin Reynolds "an automatic hydraulic, revolving liar."

MR. McKELLAR: "Listen to this infamous liar, this revolving liar. (Laughter.) The gentleman from Tennessee is acting chairman of the powerful Appropriations committee, where he can kill the projects of Senators who oppose him."

"A Lying Brute"

"Well, I never heard of such a thing! However, since this lying brute has brought up the subject, I wish to ask my friends if any of them have ever heard of my attempting to kill their projects? I do not ask any of them to speak up unless they want to. I shall be glad to have them do so if any of them have anything to say about it. Did I ever kill a pet project of any senator, be he Democrat, Republican or Independent? I never did such a thing in my life. My whole life here brands that as a lie. It is just a plain Drew Pearson lie."

"Evidently he has formed a coalition with this other great liar, Lillenthal. As my colleagues know, birds of a feather will flock together. Lillenthal himself, as shown by the record, has falsified dozens of times while testifying before our committee. Apparently he has got another liar to come along and help defend him in his lies."

"I read on: 'The power of Senate confirmation is tremendous and gives a senator from the state affected the virtual veto of any appointee to whom he may have personal objections.'"

"It is ridiculous, it is silly, it is asinine. It is worse. It is just a crooked statement of a crook who is trying to help another crook."

"Again I read: 'Other senators don't especially inquire what those objections are, but gang together to preserve their long-cherished system of keeping a throttle-hold on patronage.'"

"A Low-Lie Skunk"

"I am now speaking for all my colleagues, as well as myself. This man is just an egregious liar, and this is an egregious lie, out of the whole cloth. There is nothing but lying from beginning to end. His lying friend Lillenthal has gotten him, no doubt, to publish this lie about me, and that is why it is here in this paper."

"I try to be honest with my constituents. I try to be straight-

TAKE AWAY THE LADY

Copyright, 1944, by Lester Dent
NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Captain Azaraski, commandant of Niji Prison in Yokohama; Captain Baldwin of the R.A.F., presumably interned but actually a Japanese agent; and Tilda Courtwright, American missionary, are planning a coup of some sort. Their plot involves Link, Link's wife Norma Greer, interned Americans. Link is suspicious when he is taken on an automobile ride with Azaraski and Courtwright.

SURPRISE

XIII

LINK grinned. He felt better. "How is Miss Greer this morning?" he asked, and didn't care if he did sound as if he was asking about all the gold in Fort Knox.

"Norma?" said Courtwright. "Didn't you know Norma is not in the same prison with me?"

"I didn't know that!" Link exclaimed.

He thought about it for a minute, and then he became quite disturbed about it.

They got moving. Azaraski drove. He dismissed the army driver who was already there, and got behind the wheel himself. Last night they'd had a chauffeur. The convoy, the Jap non-com and four soldiers in the army car, followed.

"We've got to do something," Link growled. "We can't have Norma in a different jail."

"Oh, she's all right," Courtwright said.

"I want her moved!" Link yelled. "You'd like to have her with you, wouldn't you, Courtwright?"

Courtwright looked at him dejectedly. "Link, are you in love?" "Oh, Lord!" Link said.

"Link, you're yelling like a man in love."

"Nonsense. I improve my voice that way," Link said.

But he was really angry and worried about Norma.

Courtwright squeezed his hand. "Rage gives most men an unlovely animal look. Link, did you know you're a pleasant guy when you're angry?"

Link subsided. Something in her tone had suddenly surprised him. Courtwright, it occurred to him, might not want to talk about Norma being in a different jail, because it distressed her.

"I like you, Courtwright," Link said.

"Stop worrying about her, Link."

"Do you suppose I can?"

COURTRIGHT smiled. "Let me give you a conducted tour of Yokohama. That is Yamashita-Cho, the business district of Yokohama. This particular street is the Honcho-Dori, one of the two main shopping streets. It runs into, of all things, a street named Main Street. Care for more of this?"

"Sure," said Link. "I'd like it." "The movie theaters are all on the Isezaki-Cho. I don't believe we are going that direction. Northwest is the Nogeiyama quarter, the favorite residential district of rich Japanese. We were out there last night, at Azaraski's house. Southeast is the hilly foreign residence district, the Yamate-Cho, or the Bluff, as it is called."

"The thing that gets me," Link said, indicating their surroundings, "is how much like Joplin or St. Joseph, Mo., these buildings look."

"You should have seen it before the 1923 earthquake," Courtwright said. "When they rebuilt after the quake, they used modern materials and methods."

"And Yankee dough," Link said sourly.

"Well, Yankee architects, anyway."

"Were you here that far back, before the quake?" Link asked curiously.

"I came near being here before Admiral Perry came," said Courtwright.

"You've been in Japan a long time, then?"

"Yes."

"It hasn't rubbed off on you much," Link said.

FOR some reason, this touched her, he realized. Touched her intensely. She stared for a while at a distant nothing; then she turned and gave him a squeeze.

"Link, shut up, darn you," she said.

"Sorry. Did the wrong thing here, he realized. Touched her head. But her eyes were damp."

"Link, you're just talking to an old schoolman from Iowa, who has been in Japan a long time. A very, very, very long time, Link. A lot of years, and all of them devoted to civilizing and educating these damned Japanese. It's had its effect on me, Link, so that sometimes I don't know my own mind. I'm like an old lady who has had a child by each of two husbands, and now she has to love one child only. She knows which child, of course, America. But she's sorry for the other one. Do you know what I mean, Link?"

"I think I know," Link said.

"I guess you do too," Courtwright said quietly. "But it was sweet of you to say it hadn't rubbed off on me. I love you for that. If you said it again, I would probably cry. And when a battle-axe like me bawls, it's hell. So shut up, will you?"

Link was silent. He knew now why he had moved her so much with what he had said. And he was quiet. He knew that she wanted him to be silent.

And then, unexpectedly, Azaraski brought the car to a halt at the curb. They were in front of a large gloomy building. The convoy car pulled up behind them.

Captain Azaraski turned around, grinned at Link.

"Surprise, surprise!" he said. Link had about six quick thoughts, all wrong. Then he got the right one. He wondered what kept him from tearing the door off the car getting out.

Mothers' Prayers Are Answered

MOTHER'S DAY has special significance for more than 300 men of Columbus, O., Holy Name church parish. For more than two years it has been a daily ritual for a faithful little band of their mothers to offer daily prayers for their safety and although many parishes with fewer boys in the service have lost many, but Holy Name has not, up to now, lost a single one. The record was perfect until Feb. 23, when Tech.-Sgt. James D. Connor was reported missing in action over Austria. But his mother's firm faith was rewarded later—he was reported alive, a prisoner in Germany. Inspiration for the daily prayers came from Mrs. Grace Smith, who began saying a rosary for her boy, Terrence, who entered the Navy Dec. 26, 1941. Since then the mothers have recited about 15,000 rosaries. Mrs. Smith is pictured at right, above, with Mrs. H. B. Crawford, left, and Mrs. F. A. Sharshall.

Wipe Out Axis Force Trapped

111,587 Killed Or Captured In Crimean Campaign

By Tom Yarbrough

LONDON, Saturday, May 13.—(AP)—The Red army wiped out the last Axis remnants trapped west of Sevastopol on Cape Khersones Saturday, ending a five-week-old Crimean campaign in which 111,587 Germans and Romanians were killed or captured, Moscow announced last night.

The Axis toll apparently was even greater, because the broadcast report by the Soviet information bureau said that Russian planes and ships of the Black sea fleet sank a total of 191 ships, including 69 transports and 56 high-speed landing barges which the enemy was using both for supply and evacuation during the Crimean debacle.

More than 20,000 Germans and Romanians were killed in the final three-day battle which toppled Sevastopol last Tuesday, and more than 50,000 were killed in the overall 34-day campaign which began April 8, said the broadcast recorded by the Soviet Monitor.

A total of 61,687 enemy troops was captured in the campaign, including Lieutenant General Bohme, commander of the German Fifth army, Moscow said. Of these, 24,361 were taken in the last phase of the battle which regained the big fortress-port city of Sevastopol as a possible base for amphibious attacks on Romania's coast 200 miles to the west, and freed Russian armies for the looming mainland offensive against Germany.

Enormous Booty
Among the booty destroyed in the Crimea was listed 188 tanks and self-propelled guns, 529 planes, 775 guns, 946 mortars, 1,882 machine guns and 2,277 trucks.

Captured were 111 tanks and self-propelled guns, 49 planes, 2,304 other guns, 1,449 mortars, 7,008 machine guns, and 4,809 trucks and 44 locomotives.

Indications that a big battle was raging on the west bank of the lower Dnepr river, the Russian daily communiqué said that 4,000 Germans had been killed and 100 enemy tanks destroyed in a two-day repulse of heavy Axis attacks northwest of Tiraspol.

A midnight Soviet bulletin said the Soviet troops were pitted against numerically superior enemy forces and had to call up Russian planes to assist them along the Dnepr but declared "the enemy did not achieve any success although suffering heavy losses in men."

Maj. Gen. Truman Now Retired

JEFFERSON CITY, May 13.—(AP)—Major General Ralph E. Truman of Kansas City was retired from the National Guard Friday "for reasons of having reached the statutory retirement age of 64 years."

Truman had been on inactive duty since Jan. 15, 1942.

The announcement, by Lt. Col. Kyle T. Graham, assistant to the adjutant general, of his retirement said Truman's record "is one of long and meritorious service to his state and nation."

"He served as the commanding general, 35th division, National Guard, as major general, with credit to himself and brought honor to the State of Missouri. xxx

"General Truman's outstanding record as a citizen soldier is illustrative of his constant devotion to the cause of national defense and the welfare of the National Guard in the best interests of his state and nation."

Truman began his military career as a private in the Spanish-American war. He enlisted in the National Guard in 1916 and served with the border patrol at Laredo, Tex.

He went into the 1917-18 World War as a second lieutenant and advanced to major.

He became chief of staff of the 35th division of the National Guard in 1932 and its commanding general in 1938. Called to active service when the National Guard was mobilized in 1940, he served until he was relieved from active duty two years ago.

Truman, who is now editor of the Missouri newspaper, and expressed his gratification at being able to represent the newspaper. Others honored spoke briefly.

ed by Thunderbolts dumped over 500 tons of bombs on four airfields, Abbeville-Drucart, Beaumont-Sur-Oise, and Beauvais-Tille in northern France, and Chievres, 25 miles southwest of Brussels, the Belgian capital. All returned.

One formation of Havoc light bombers ran into a dozen ME-109s and FW-190s as they approached Beaumont-Sur-Oise, and the escorting Thunderbolts promptly engaged the enemy.

Later in the day Thunderbolt fighter-bombers of Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's Ninth U. S. air force attacked railway yards at Namur and Tournai in Belgium, and rail bridges leading into Herenthals, east of Antwerp.

The RAF again sent out swarms of its daylight raiders, Boston and Mitchell bombers struck anew at rail yards at Tourncoing, France, and Spitfire and Typhoons smashed other communication objectives in the same general area inland from the invasion coast.

The "Red Indian" squadron of Canadian Spitfires caught a German motorized convoy on the Paris-Rouen road and riddled at least eight vehicles, one of them a staff car. Returning pilots told of seeing Germans falling under machine-gun bursts after scrambling out of the cars.

Word from inside France indicated that the so-called "Rommel plan" to round up French manpower already was far advanced. First all known De Gaulle supporters and trained and reserve officers are to be arrested. Then all prominent leaders around whom the French might rally would be taken, and finally all men non-essential to the German operations.

The Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet said that the Axis Satellite Bulgarian government had decided to call up again seven divisions of troops which were demobilized two months ago, bringing the total strength to 16 divisions. The correspondent, writing from Bern, suggested the move was made because of an increase of German troops in Bulgaria and the Bulgars' desire to be "masters in their own land."

tanks have driven to within two miles of Loyang, the Chinese command acknowledged tonight, and Chinese hopes of holding the ancient Honan Province citadel faded rapidly.

Enemy troops made their deepest penetration to the west, and also had reached a point only three miles northwest of the city, the high command said.

The Japanese appeared ready to spring a vast trap threatening several hundred thousand Chinese troops, now hemmed in by enemy columns advancing from the Mien-chih sector, 42 miles to the west, and from points east and south of the Loyang battle area.

(Importance of the Honan Province campaign to Japanese plans was suggested in a Japanese expeditionary force headquarters report broadcast from Berlin which said that Gen. Shunroku Hata, commander-in-chief of Japanese forces in China, had arrived on the Honan front May 8 to direct personally the operations in that sector).

T/Sgt. Jax E. Whitaker, recently returned from service outside the continental United States, now is being processed through the Army Air Forces Redistribution station No. 2 in Miami Beach, Fla., where his next assignment will be recommended.

This is one of the Redistribution stations within the command of the AAF Redistribution center. At an AAF Redistribution station, AAF returnees from theaters of operation are examined by specially selected medical and classification officers whose joint findings are used in determining new assignments. Theme of the AAF Redistribution program is designation of each man to duty for which he is best fitted. Returnees live at a Redistribution station under conditions that encourage natural response to processing, a majority of their two weeks stay being devoted to rest and recreation.

AAF personnel, including enlisted men and officers alike, are assigned to a Redistribution station upon their return to the United States, but do not report to the station until completing a furlough or leave of approximately three weeks.

Sergeant Whitaker served 19 months as a B-17 Flying Fortress engineer-gunner in the European theater. During this time he flew 50 missions, and won the Air Medal with nine oak leaf clusters.

Aged 30, his parents live at 519 West Broadway. An alumnus of Smith-Cotton high school in Sedalia, he attended the University of Missouri.

Richard W. Austin, son of Mrs. Mattie Austin, 1021 South Harrison avenue, who is stationed in England has been promoted to the rank of staff sergeant.

S/Sgt. Austin has been in the army sixteen months and has spent nine and a half months in the European theater of operation. At present he is in the office of the adjutant at group headquarters of a combat crew replacement center. He is a graduate of Smith-Cotton high school and Central Business College and before entering service was a civil service employee of the Engineers department, Division Real Estate Suboffice, Southwestern Engineer Division, Little Rock, Ark.

James E. Wolf, fireman 2-c, of the Navy, left Saturday for his station at Farragut, Ida., after spending a 15-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wolf, 1709 South Summit avenue, and his sister, Mrs. Courtney Jackson, Sixth street and Hancock avenue.

He has completed his boot training and is awaiting further assignment.

In a letter to the Democrat-Capital, Pfc. Gilbert F. Burk, of the 37th Infantry division, now serving in the Japanese theater of war, states that where he is newspapers are read and re-read until they are worn out, "so you can imagine how we look forward" to copies of the Democrat.

Enclosed with the letter was a copy of a commendation received by the officers and men of his division for noteworthy action against the enemy on Bougainville, a campaign in which Pfc. Burk took part. The citation was issued by Robert S. Beightler, major general commanding.

Pfc. Burk's letter was mailed May 5. He is the son of Mrs. Oma Burk, 1830 South Beacon avenue.

Variety Show Friday Night Huge Success

Proceeds Will Be Used For Teen Town Club Program

The Teen Town Variety Show, given at Smith-Cotton High School Friday evening was a tremendous success. The show was played to a capacity house.

All of the Sedalia public schools and the parochial schools presented scenes that were carefully arranged, and each moved forward with precision and a remarkable speed, with some 350 students participating.

Rev. Fordyce E. Eastburn, president of the Teen-Town board, opened the show telling of the object of this entertainment and thanking all for their cooperation. The first scene opened with a replica of a typical Boy Scout camp. It was early morning, the camp fire, was glowing and the tents and other equipment made realistic the scene. Reveille was sounded and the boys hopped out of their sleeping bags all ready for a fine day. The large American flag was placed and as Old Glory waved, the orchestra under Miss Jerry Teufel played the Star Spangled Banner. Harry Lambirth directed this scene, and the orchestra played throughout the entire performance.

Mother Goose nursery rhymes and skits were cleverly given by Mark Twain school and directed by Miss Foster and Miss Hazel Harris with Barbara Brown as soloist and accompanist.

The Fashion Show was a beautiful scene, presented by Broadway and High school, with Mrs. Lloyd Kennon chairman in charge, assisted by Mesdames Lyman Keuper, John McLaughlin, Harold Yunker, Leo Eickhoff, Wm. Prowell and others. Fashions of our youth from kindergarten to seniors in the high school were stylishly portrayed.

Much amusement was engendered as tiny Kathryn Eickhoff and "Ginger" Stafford, the youngest performers in the show, were so enthralled with the stage bright lights, that they decided they would just stay in the spotlight, the rest of the evening, and they had to be persuaded to leave the stage. Quite unconsciously these tots brought down the house.

The Fashion Show gradually blended into an "Evening at Teen Town" with Markie Walker and Lois Williams giving a dance and Betty Barnett as accompanist. One group after another drifted into the scene until the stage was full of lovely costumed young people who closed the scene with a jitterbug dance, much to the pleasure of the audience. Cline Cain a member of the S. Club Board presented to Teen-Town a check for $25.00 as the Jitterbug dance closed.

Sacred Heart School, under the supervision of Sister Rosetta presented a group of 10 young girls in colonial costumes who made a hit with their song "I'll Tell You A Secret" and with beautiful harmony, the various departments of the school sang several numbers, the closing one being "My God and I." The young men carried the melody.

Horace Mann orchestra directed by Miss Ida Mae Redky presented some very creditable numbers. A Spanish Dance by Faith McDonald, Donnis Mitchell gave an intricate baton twirling number.

Whittier School's scene was directed by Misses Meyers, McCune and Schrankler. Tiny tots gave a playlet which was a "Cake Making" scene.

The Moonlight Scene directed by Mrs. Carl Urban was a presentation of a Teen age group of girls in formal with their young escorts, dancing in the moonlight. Buster Baker made quite a name for himself, as he sang in fine voice "It's a Lovely Way to Spend an Evening," enacting the part of a master of ceremonies as he sang.

Girl Scouts under the direction of Mrs. A. A. Studebaker were seen around a camp fire, with their tents and equipment in the background, while a group of the girls sang the Salute to the Flag.

Specialty Acts

The specialty acts were greatly enjoyed. Edward Martin, principal of Jefferson school sang "Old Man River" and Carolyn Morgan of Washington school was made up to impersonate a colored preacher, and with her improvised pulpit she gave a Negro sermon. Patricia Denny, of St. Patrick's school gave a piano solo. Tiny Jane Knight, was a high light of the show; "Playmates," "Old Gray Mare" and "Mairisy Doats."

Mrs. E. W. Richardson was the efficient chairman for the show, and she was assisted by the entire Teen Town board, Billy Meuschke of the high school and Mrs. Frank S. Leach in its presentation. Professors Forrest Drake, Albert Steiner, P. A. Sillers and E. P. Miller of the high school faculty, each held work sheets in their hands, and materially aided in the rapid correctness of the presentation. The following high school boys did fine work in the production end of the show, Joe Williams, Joe Lennartz, Bud Roe and Walter Stewart, were the stage hands.

The following served as ushers, Anita Isguar, Laella Smith, Vivian McAtee, Margarie Goshen, Bobby Lacey, Jeanne Gregory, Berl Evans, and Allen Wagner.

Near the close of the performance Mrs. Frank Leach was called to the stage and Billy Meuschke

Deprive Priest Of Privileges

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 13.—(AP)—Rev. Stanislaus Orlowski, Polish-American priest suspended by his bishop upon his return from a Moscow conference with Premier Stalin, said today he would celebrate mass in his home parish tomorrow as usual and declared he was "being crucified for my church."

Only a short time after Bishop Thomas M. O'Leary of the Springfield diocese stripped him of his priestly privileges, Father Orlowski announced he was appealing the suspension order to the apostolic delegate in Washington.

Late today the delegation at Washington reported that the Springfield priest had "never" contacted them and added that "like every diocesan priest, he is directly subject to his bishop." Father Orlowski explained to newspapermen at a press conference that his appeal automatically invalidated the suspension order and made it possible for him to carry on his parish duties pending action by Archbishop Amleto Cicognani, the apostolic delegate.

(Diocesan authorities, however, disagreed with this statement, saying that the suspension remained in force until higher church officials had ruled upon the appeal.

(They also said that failure to comply with the penalty would be a further violation of canon law and could lead to the imposition of heavier punishment.)

Mrs. R. L. Weinrich gave a paper on the lily family, and also read a letter from her son, Kenneth, telling of the vast jungles and mountains of New Guinea, on which grow fern-like plants three and four feet tall, the stem not like our ferns but woody and breaking easily, growing best in shaded and damp areas. He also told of another plant reminding him of our elephant ears, growing on the same principle, but with different leaves.

He said some of the American and Australian boys have flowers planted around their tents, grown from American seed. Lastly he mentioned the different plants that grow in the tree tops.

A's Knock The Browns Out Of First Place

Al Hollingsworth Is Knocked From Box In Third Inning

PHILADELPHIA, May 13—(P)—The Philadelphia Athletics knocked the St. Louis Browns out of first place in the American League today when they pounded four Brownie pitchers for 17 hits and an 8-3 victory in the first game of their series before a crowd of 6,125.

The Browns took a 1-0 lead in the second inning, but the Mackmen tied it on Ford Garrison's home run in the third, and knocked Al Hollingsworth out of the box with two more runs in the third.

Roberto Estalella hit another homer in the fifth, with Garrison aboard, to make it 5-1, and in the sixth, after the Browns had scored twice, the A's drove Sigmund Jakucki off the mound with another pair of counters. They polished off Southpaw Sam Zoldak in the next game with another counter.

Down Black allowed only five St. Louis hits, and had excellent backing afield, with the A's running off four double plays.

Garrison, who has hit safely in every game since the Athletics got him in a trade with the Boston Red Sox, led the Philadelphia batting attack with three hits.

Cards Make It 3 Out Of 4 From Dodgers

Red Birds Wipe Out 2-Run Lead In Fifth When They Score 5

ST. LOUIS, May 13—(P)—The St. Louis Cardinals made it three out of four from the Brooklyn Dodgers by winning today's game 8-4, with a five-run rally in the fifth inning.

Rube Melton held the Cardinals scoreless until that fatal inning when he suddenly lost control and walked three batters in a row after Emil Verban had singled, to force in a run.

Calvin McLish, 18-year-old rookie, followed Melton to the slab and yielded two hits, the Cards scoring five times to wipe out a two-run Dodger lead.

Brooklyn had tallied twice in the fourth frame when Stan Bordagaray was safe on Marty Marion's error, Luis Olmo singled, Augie Galan walked and Howie Schultz singled.

The Cards tallied again in the sixth on Stan Musial's fourth straight walk, his steal of second, and Walker Cooper's single. Musial featured in the Redbirds' final two runs in the eighth when he tripled in Debs Garms, who had singled, and scored on a bad throw by Schultz.

The Dodgers added single runs in the seventh and eighth, but were stymied in the other frames by Harry Brecheen, who notched his third victory of the season.

Luis Olmo was removed from second base by Manager Leo Durocher and returned to the outfield.

Pensive Wins The Richest Preakness

Strikes From Behind In The Stretch As He Did In The Derby

By ORLO ROBERTSON
PIMLICO RACE COURSE, Baltimore, May 13 —(P)— Striking from behind in the stretch as he did a week ago in the Kentucky Derby, Pensive today won the 54th and richest Preakness to take a strangle hold on the three-year-old turf championship.

Back In Early Running

Far back in the early running, the chestnut son of the English Derby winner, Hyperion, from Warren Wright's Calumet Farm hit the wire at the end of the mile and three-sixteenths three-quarters of a length ahead of George D. Widener's Platter, Mrs. Payne Whitney's Stir Up, third in the Derby, once again finished in the same spot, beaten two and one-half lengths after setting a burning pace through the first mile.

In travelling the distance in 1:59 1/2, two and one-fifth seconds off Alsab's stake record, Pensive earned $60,075 of the gross purse of $80,075 and ran his owner's earnings for the year to $250,840. Of this Pensive has accounted for $139,475. This was only about $17,000 short of the figure compiled by the master of the Calumet Farm in topping the list of money winning owners in 1943.

The sweltering crowd of 33,011 made Pensive the choice in a wagering spree that broke all records for the race. They poured $332,108 through the machines, compared to the previous high of $254,000 when Man O' War won in 1935.

With the shirt-sleeved fans beating out a steady tune on the machines, Pensive returned $5.30, $3.10 and $2.20 across the board. Platter, making his second start of the year, paid off at $4.10 to place and $2.70 to show while a $2 show duvet on Stir Up was worth $2.50.

Receive Coveted Woodlawn Vase

"My horse never left me in doubt," said Conn McCreary after dismounting from Pensive and watching his boss and trainer Ben Jones receive the coveted Woodlawn vase.

There wasn't that much confidence among the fans, however, as Eddie Arcaro shot Stir Up to the front and led the seven horses past the judges stand the first time with Pensive trailing by some six lengths. Johnny Longden had Platter right at Stir Up's flanks and A. C. Ernest's Alotter was close behind.

Swinging into the back stretch, Arcaro aboard Stir Up was winging along in front with two lengths to spare over Platter at the half-mile post, which the Greentree gelding reached in .48 3-5 seconds. Meanwhile Pensive had moved into fourth place, still some four and one half lengths back, but he had started to run.

As Stir Up reached the first six furlongs in 1:13 2-5, two lengths in front of Platter, McCreary swung Pensive to the inside, took over third place and started moving in.

Coming into the mile post in 1:39 3-5 at the top of the three-sixteenths of a mile homestretch, Platter caught the thing Stir Up but by that time Pensive was in a position to give the Widener colt a battle. There was little to choose between the pair for the next eighth as Stir Up faded but with the finish line only one-sixteenth of a mile away, Pensive stuck his head in front and there he stayed.

Sport Scraps

(By D. KELLY SCRUTON)

TODAY I am making an appeal, an appeal for baseball caps for the boys in the service. I am asking for eighty baseball caps which can be mailed to some sailors in the South Pacific, who are in submarine service and I know if I can have your cooperation we can fulfill their desire.

Last week the Democrat received an interesting letter from a former Sedalia—Robert E. "Bob" Hudson, SC 2/c. Bob writes in part "I would appreciate it and so would the crew on my submarine, if there were some way we could get about 80 baseball caps to wear, 'cause when we go in to a rest camp for two weeks we have some good hot ball games out here. So if there is any way you could get them and send them to us, we all would enjoy them."

He ended his letter, "Tell the boys out at the shops hello and for them to keep building trains and cars, and I will be back there one of these days. I hope my old job is still there."

I checked on the cap proposition and learned they cost between 35 and forty cents. It would be nice to enclose in the box a couple of soft balls and a few baseballs to help their rest camp along. If any suggestions can be made, send them in; we would like to hear them.

A real baseball fan, and a man who is always wanting to do something for someone else was standing here just a minute ago looking over my shoulder reading my writing. He said put me down as Mr. Anonymous for a "buck." We did.

Joe Rosenthal, when we asked him what procedure to take said to ask suggestions, but to count him in. We did.

OUT at the Sedalia Army Air Field the other day the gym staff on that Troop Carrier Command base found itself with a problem on its hands. It was trying to find the slight difference between 2nd Lt. Gerald A. Brodie and his identical twin brother, Warrant Officer Bernard Brodie. They both reported for physical training and had to be graded, but that didn't seem to make a great deal of difference in the ending.

As the good Public Relations officer, Lt. James Battersby, tells us, it was confusion added to confusion when the Brodie brothers reported to take their physical fitness work. They both did 36 sit-ups, 8 pull-ups, and—just to confound minds already veering slightly—they both finished the 300 yard shuttle-run in a dead heat. Their time was clocked at 55 seconds.

The brothers both stand five feet four inches tall, each tip the scales at 130 pounds. Then, when the time came to grade them, their score was considered good, both having the same.

We suggest tying a red ribbon around the finger of one and something else on the other and maybe that will help the scorekeepers.

THE time has arrived to begin thinking about twilight softball at the Smith-Cotton high school. It has been called to my attention that another league such as was had last year might be organized for this summer.

Albert Steiner is requesting all these men and boys who participated in the 1943 tournament to organize teams and come out again for this summer. He can be contacted through the Smith-Cotton high school, either over the Board of Education phone or the high school phone.

He has informed me that Rosenthal's and the Sacred Heart teams are organizing again. He would like to see some teams from both the Missouri Pacific and the M-K-T shops on the league schedules along with a team from the Sedalia Army Air Field and one composed of officers who reside in Sedalia. School is out this week, so the playground grounds will be open for some more of the supervised playground activities which have become very popular in the past few years.

But whatever style they may be, take an extra pair on your vacation. Guarantee your holiday fun!

War Production Threatened By Drive To Unionize Management

★ The drive of union leaders to unionize management, beginning with foremen, is a threat to the war production effort.

★ It is a long step toward putting industrial management in the hands of union leaders.

★ What kind of collective bargaining is it when union leaders sit on both sides of the table?

★ It raises an issue which Congress must clarify by amending the necessary laws, including the War Labor Disputes Act.

★ Unless Congress acts, this crisis will further obstruct an all-out war production effort.

The Automotive Council for War Production, representing 550 established companies employing 1,200,000 workers and delivering 20% of the nation's war production, has authorized its president, Alvan MacAuley, to make the following public statement and send it to the President, other government officials, and all members of Congress:

AT this most critical moment in history, on the eve of the great invasion of Europe which may settle the issue of human freedom for years to come, the public is entitled to know of a situation which threatens the success of that great effort.

The Council has given careful consideration to the adverse effect on war production of the strike of foremen in the twelve plants of major war producers in the Detroit area and still greater threat inherent in the organized drive to unionize management, beginning with foremen.

This is a long step toward putting industrial management in the hands of union leaders.

Successful business undertakings and great achievements depend on an organization responsive to the decision of those in charge. The commanding officers of production, like those of the Army, must have their captains and lieutenants, their sergeants and corporals. Foremen, supervisors and managers are officers in the production army.

The division of their obligations and responsibilities between management and any outside organization will be just as disastrous to our war production front as outside organization of the Army's officers to bargain and debate with their superiors would be at the battlefield. "No man can serve two masters."

The issue now is:

Can union leaders unionize management and take over control of war production?

Are their organizing drives for this purpose to be allowed to interfere with the efficiency and effectiveness of this production? Will they be allowed to disrupt American mass-production industry, one of the greatest assets of our country in both war and peace, by using it to experiment with a new and untried form of union-controlled management?

What kind of collective bargaining is it when union leaders sit on both sides of the table?

If, management is to be unionized, where is union control to stop?

This issue results directly from the fact that the federal laws and their administration are vague and confused in respect to the status of management.

In the interest of the war effort, we urge Congress to make it clear that it does not intend to permit labor leaders to take over the management of our war production plants. This can and should be done immediately by clarifying and amending the necessary laws, particularly the War Labor Disputes Act.

The automotive industry is not only producing a large part of our national armament output, but is also the largest manufacturing industry in peacetime; thus the nation is relying upon its prompt reconversion to provide jobs after victory.

The Council was created by the industry immediately after Pearl Harbor to expedite in every possible way the industry's war production efforts. This included exchange of production equipment, knowledge of production methods, and efficient use of scarce materials and manpower. This industry has done an outstanding war production job.

The Council has never intervened in the collective bargaining problems of employer-employee relations, and there is no intention to depart from this practice.

UNLESS CONGRESS ACTS, THIS CRISIS WILL FURTHER OBSTRUCT AN ALL-OUT WAR PRODUCTION EFFORT

Sedalians At State Convention

Mrs. C. L. Carter, president of the Sedalia Garden club and treasurer of the Federated Garden clubs of Missouri, and three other delegates from the local club returned Wednesday night after attending Tuesday and Wednesday the state convention in St. Joseph.

All meetings and entertainment sessions were held in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The other garden club leaders in Sedalia attending the convention were Mrs. Arthur Klang, state junior garden club chairman and a national regional chairman, who is a member of circle one; Mrs. A. A. Ferguson of circle two, and Mrs. R. L. Phelan of circle four. Mrs. Carter is a member of circle three, and also represented the entire club. Four of the six circles of the Sedalia Garden club thus were represented individually at the state meeting.

There were 140 delegates at the two-day convention with every region of the state represented.

An outstanding part was the three breakfasts for special organizations held Wednesday morning in different sections of the main dining room of the church, with appropriate decorations for the separate gatherings.

The breakfast groups were the Burley Oaks, composed of all elected officers past and present of the state federation; Little Acorns, all appointive officers past and present and the Presidents' group for all club presidents attending. Mrs. Carter, as a state officer, was in the first group, and also was eligible for the third of the sectional meetings.

Lectures and demonstrations by Mrs. Susas Conrad of Clarinda, Iowa, and authority in the field of pottery and flower arrangements were a feature of the programs. Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Conrad discussed and demonstrated the making of pottery from pre-historic times to the present and on Wednesday her subject was flower arrangements.

Decorative themes of the convention were interwoven around the history of St. Joseph, typified by the "Pony Express" luncheon Wednesday for all attending.

At the close of the program Wednesday afternoon a tour was

Paris Clothes Still Have "Umph"

By Thomas F. Hawkins

BERN, May 13.—(AP)—Paris still is Paris on style street and the best French designers still are turning out new modes in everything from delicate watch case patterns to undies with "umph." Their aim is to keep their names on top for postwar business. They find outlet through magazines published in Switzerland which, as a result, is itself becoming an important European style center.

Rene Rischer, publisher of the magazine Plaire, sums up the French aim with: "French firms are eager to obtain this means of expression to show that they exist and to create hope for postwar resumption of Parisian dominance in fashions."

There is no evidence of German influence in the situation. Diligent inquiries of various sources including publicists, Swiss equivalent of the ABC advertising auditors in the United States, brought the unanimous response: no evidence of Nazi tieup in the magazines.

As to the designers, it was pointed out that leading Paris designers refused a German request to move to Berlin and cooperate with the Nazi style effort. They preferred to stay in Paris and try to maintain a center there where shows, despite shortages, still would be of high quality.

Symphonalityies —

(This is the last of a series of articles offering intimate glimpses of the principals of the Sedalia Symphony orchestra which concluded its ninth season at a concert last Monday night under the direction of Abe Rosenthal.)

From the time George Dick, 17-year-old solo French horn player in the Sedalia Symphony orchestra, was three years old he has been interested in music, for at that tender age he started perching on band stands, listening to concerts. Later his attention turned to orchestral performances.

George became a French horn player because when he started to take up instrumental study his mother couldn't find a trombone, which had been advised because of young Dick's long arms. This was when he was in the fifth grade at Mark Twain school. An alto horn, a cousin of the French horn, but easier to play and used principally for band work, was then recommended. After completing the seventh grade George graduated to the French horn, at first using a school horn.

Later he bought his own single horn and used it until he wore it out. Two years ago last January, he recalls, he purchased what is known as a double horn and it is the only French horn of this kind in the city. It has two sets of pipes, with four keys instead of the regular three. The fourth key, when pushed down, shuts off one set of pipes causing the horn to go into the key of B-flat instead of the regular F, the B-flat valve being used for very high and very low tones.

Most high school players usually use the single horn, which is not so difficult to play.

Graduating from Smith-Cotton high school this month, George has played in the high school orchestra and band all four years, and has lettered in music for the same period.

Honored At Music Camp

In addition to the music insignia on his school sweater he wears another emblem, from the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich., to which he won a scholarship last year. A proof of his skill lies in the information that he alternated between principal and second chair, chosen through competitive tryouts, throughout the season, in the 230-piece camp orchestra. This orchestra is the youngest symphonic group in the world.

He also alternated between the top two chairs in the 100 piece band. There were 12 French horns in the orchestra and 14 in the band. Most of the French horn players were converted trumpet men, he was told, and many, like George, were tall and slim in build.

He limits his playing to his chosen instrument, although he has tried other horns, because "you can't play any other brass and keep your lip." He practices at home as long as he thinks "the neighbors won't mind."

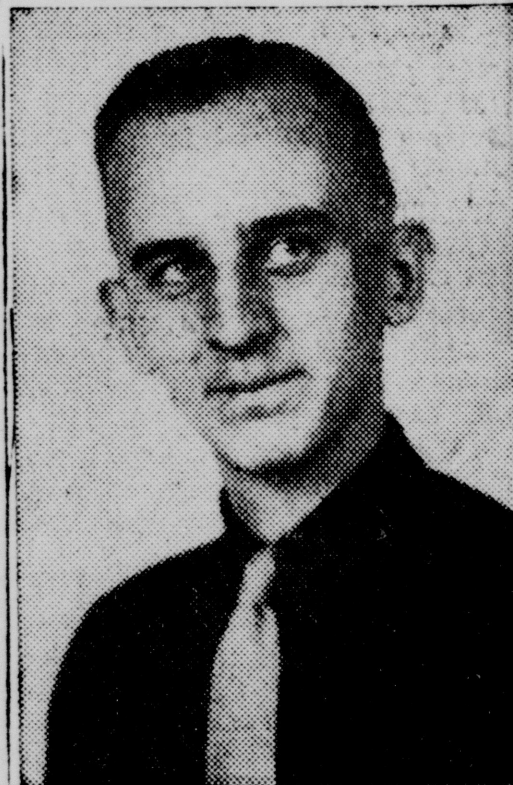

With Symphony 4 Years

When Dick was in the eighth grade he sat in on a Sedalia Symphony orchestra rehearsal, played three notes, and left because the music seemed too hard to him then. He resumed his efforts with the symphony four seasons ago, as fourth in the section and by the middle of the season was switched to first place of the French horn which position he has held since.

He plans to attend music school, but carrying out of this ambition, depends, of course, on potential military service. However he has qualified again for the National Music camp this summer and will spend eight weeks at Interlochen beginning July 2.

George Dick exemplifies the exceptional youthful talent that has meant much to the successful symphony performances, and the student players, in turn, have benefitted from the opportunities of playing in the orchestra, a nine-year-old civic organization that merits the plaudits it has received.

Poppy Sale In Near Future

The biggest poppy sale in the history of the American Legion Auxiliary is predicted by Mrs. James Franks, of the local unit, who states she would not be surprised if more than double the usual number were sold. Mrs. Lee Farley, 1114 South Marshall avenue, is seventh district poppy chairman and Mrs. Herman Myers, 213 West Fifth street.

As few people know what the arrangements are for making these Memorial Day flowers, Mrs. Franks explained that the materials are furnished free to the veterans by the American Legion Auxiliary. Volunteer workers teach the disabled men to make the poppies. The entire poppy program, from the supplying of the poppy material, to the distribution of the finished flowers to the American public, is under the management of the Auxiliary.

"The veterans and their dependents are the ones who benefit from our poppy sale," she said, "not only from the money that results from selling poppies, but also from having something tangible to do instead of having to rest, read or talk. These men in the government hospitals are delighted to keep their fingers busy and their minds occupied with the intricacies of fashioning the poppies. Needy wives and children also reap benefits from the sale of the flowers."

"We have been selling these Memorial Day flowers for twenty-four years and each year the poppy becomes more closely identified with the American Legion Auxiliary and with our disabled men. We hope the service will continue indefinitely."

Traffic Cases In Police Court

Two overtime parkers, and one person driving a car who made a left hand turn on Ohio avenue, forfeited their bonds in police court Saturday morning when they failed to appear before Magistrate C. W. Bente.

Overtime parkers who forfeited bonds of one dollar were Mrs. Tom Ware, 915 Crescent Drive, and Prof. C. C. Hubbard, 503 West Johnson street.

Sam Burton, Kansas City, made a left hand turn in his car at Seventh street and Ohio avenue, and forfeited a dollar bond.

Fined For "Honking Horns"

Edward Indennmeyer, who resides east of Sedalia, was $5 in police court Saturday morning on a charge of creating a disturbance with unusual loud sounding horns on his automobile.

Stocks Favorites In An Advance

NEW YORK, May 13—(P)—Selected stocks negotiated a modest comeback in today's final market of an indefinite week and, while many leaders remained in minus territory, favorites advanced fractions to a point or so.

Although Wall Streeters were heartened by the drying up of selling, lightness of demand was a handicap. Transfers of 220,110 shares for the short session were the smallest since Sept. 4, last year. Prices stiffened in most cases toward the close and the Associated Press 60-stock average finished with a net gain of 1 of a point at 51.6. For the six days it showed a loss of 3 of a point.

Turnover here was 50,670 shares versus 91,020 last Saturday. Commodities generally had a bad week as government crop estimates exceeded expectations. At Chicago today wheat was down 3/4 to 3/8 of a cent a bushel. Cotton rose 10 to 30 cents a bale.

Moderate Decline To Grain Prices

CHICAGO, May 13—(P)—Grain futures prices took another beating today, some rye contracts losing more than a cent and wheat off as much as 3/4 in a selling flurry at the close.

Traders now believe the wheat crop will be much bigger than previously expected and this, coupled with continued favorable growing and planting weather, depressed prices. Rallies on resting orders and short covering brought prices back upward at times, but the pressure was too heavy.

At the close wheat was down 1/4 to 3/8 compared with the previous finish. July $1.68-$1.66 1/2, oats were unchanged to 1/4 lower. July 78 1/2, rye was down 3/4 to 1 1/2 cent. May $1.23-$1.23 1/4, and barley was unchanged to 1/4 off. July $1.23 1/4.

U.S. 'Subs' Sink Fourteen Ships

One Of Jap Vessels Sunk Was Destroyer

WASHINGTON, May 13—(P)—Destruction of a Japanese destroyer and 13 merchant vessels by hard-hitting American submarines battering steadily at Nipponese supply lines in Pacific waters was announced by the navy Friday.

The sinkings brought to 709 the number of Japanese ships sunk or damaged by American submarines. Of that number 558 have been sent to the bottom, 36 probably sunk and 115 damaged.

The text of the navy communiqué, No. 520:

"Pacific and Far East: "1. United States submarines have reported the sinking of 14 vessels, including one combatant ship as a result of operations against the enemy in these waters, as follows: "One destroyer, one large tanker, one medium tanker, one medium cargo transport, one medium cargo transport, seven medium cargo vessels, one small cargo transport, and one small cargo vessel. "2. These actions have not been announced in any previous navy department communiqué."

Step up 'Sub' Operations

The destroyer was the fourth Japanese warship reported sunk by American submarines this month, indicating accelerated sub

Pup's Attempted AWOL Stopped

"Queenie" is a real Troop Carrier mascot. Recently she reported for duty with a new detail of eight pups. She is the mascot of Section A.

Cpl "Queenie" reported for duty Monday with a new detail of eight pups. "Queenie" is the mascot of Section A and, as such, is assigned to the section for quarters, rations, and administration. In speaking of Queenie's pedigree, the only thing we can say is that she is just dog. No other designation can be more accurate. At present the pups are quartered with Section A in Building T533A, but they are usually attached to Queenie for rations and administration.

According to present plans, which are rather tentative, it is expected the pups will be assigned to all the sections.

The men taking care of them now hope that this will happen soon, or these EM will be ready for reassignment, too—Section 8!
